

Disclaimer

This website, and any information contained in it, is not intended to provide or constitute legal advice.

While we attempt to present and maintain current and accurate information on this website, we do not guarantee its accuracy or currency.

You should not, in any circumstances, rely on the legal information obtained through or from this website without first consulting with us. If you would like to discuss a specific legal matter please contact us to determine whether we can be of assistance.

Website Content and Copyright

The content and the copyright in the content is owned by McEwan Cooper Dennis LLP. You are provided with a limited licence to use the information for the purposes set out herein.

You may display on your computer, download or print a copy of the material from our website for non-commercial, personal or educational purposes only. You may not, however, modify the content, and where you do copy it or use it for educational purposes, in doing so you agree to identify the source as Cooper Litigation, and shall note the limited licence provided.

Documents on this website may not be reproduced or transmitted for any purpose, other than the purpose for which they are set out on the website without our prior written consent. Applications to do so should be directed to rcooper@mcewanpartners.com.

Email communication may not be secure. We recommend that all email be encrypted to increase the security of your communications.

Linking to other sites

Sites that are linked from this website are not under our control. We do not assume any responsibility or liability for communications with or materials obtained from any linked sites. Links are provided solely for your convenience and are not an endorsement or referral by us.

If you wish to provide a link to our website, please contact rcooper@mcewanpartners.com to make a request.

You may not use our icons or logos on your website without our express written consent and you may not use any links to suggest that McEwan Partners or McEwan Cooper Dennis LLP, sponsors, endorses, approves or is affiliated with you or your website.

Governing Law

Terms and conditions of your access to and use of this website and any claims made against McEwan Cooper Dennis LLP, its partners, employees and representatives or affiliated companies arising out of such access or use or otherwise will be governed and construed or interpreted in accordance with the laws of British Columbia and the Federal laws applicable therein.

Email Correspondence

Save a notice to the contrary by the recipient or the existence of special circumstances, the use of email is considered by the present users as an adequate means of communication, equivalent to regular mail. E-mail messages are considered to have been received when they enter the information system of the addressee. The e-mail message from which you accessed this disclaimer and any attachments to that e-mail message, are confidential, may be subject to solicitor-client privilege and are intended only for the addressee. Any unauthorized use or disclosure is strictly prohibited. Disclosure of such e-mail to anyone other than the intended addressee does not constitute waiver of privilege. If you have received such communication in error, please notify us immediately and delete the email. Thank you for your cooperation.